Devastating alarm bells are emerging from Russia as the nation’s leading experts warn that chilling new evidence proves that the global turbo cancer crisis was caused by Covid mRNA “vaccines.”

An alarming new review has confirmed the link between mass mRNA "vaccination" and skyrocketing cancer cases and deaths recorded around the world.

The study was led by renowned Russian researcher Angelina Alekseevna Seliverstova and Dr. Oleg Germanovich Makeev, Professor of Biology and Biotechnology at Ural State Medical University in Yekaterinburg.

Their findings confirm that the worldwide rollout of Covid mRNA shots triggered unexpected long-term safety risks.

The impact of the mass "vaccination" campaign includes skyrocketing rates of cancer, which are still rising dramatically, they warn.

Their work was published in a Russian-language medical journal.

It draws on four years of global data and published research.

The researchers analyzed global databases, including government registries, published research, and U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) adverse event reports.

Unlike industry-funded studies, the paper relied heavily on independent analysis of existing data, free from pharmaceutical influence.

The findings are sending shockwaves through the scientific world..

The researchers point to clear evidence that mass mRNA "vaccination" campaigns coincided with shocking increases in rapidly spreading deadly cancers.

Data from the CDC's VAERS database alone revealed 2,579 cancer-related adverse event reports between late 2020 and August 2022 among the vaccinated.

However, experts warn that these figures are massively underestimated and likely only account for fewer than 1% of the true number of cases.

Ovarian cancer stood out as one of the most devastating spikes.

The review cites evidence that the risk of ovarian cancer may have surged by as much as 1,433-fold after vaccination, a number the authors say has been buried by Western health authorities.

Mechanistically, the paper warns that vaccine-driven spike protein production inside human cells could damage DNA repair pathways, crippling the BRCA1 and p53 tumor-suppressor systems that protect against malignancy.

With these safeguards impaired, aggressive cancers can take root and spread rapidly.

The authors further highlight a growing spectrum of "spikeopathy" disorders, including myocarditis, autoimmune disease, clotting disorders, and now, turbo cancers.

They stress that adenovirus-based vaccines may pose fewer long-term risks, but the catastrophic effects of mRNA shots cannot be ignored.

Most damning of all, the study exposes how Western institutions have downplayed, censored, or outright concealed these risks.

The authors accuse global health officials of keeping the public in the dark about what could be the most devastating medical cover-up in modern history.

Unlike many Western studies, this review declared no financial conflicts of interest, no outside funding, and no pharmaceutical ties, underscoring the independence of its conclusions.

The warning from Russia is clear, as the world is now grappling with a medical ticking time bomb unleashed by the mRNA experiment.

Meanwhile, the establishment is doing everything it can to silence the truth.

The Russian findings come just weeks after the McCullough Foundation published a comprehensive preprint on what it calls the "Hybrid Harms Hypothesis."

As Slay News reported, the hypothesis warns that repeated Covid infections and mRNA shots act in tandem to drive chronic illness, sudden deaths, and excess mortality worldwide.

That paper, backed by researchers including Dr. Peter McCullough, Dr. Jessica Rose, and Dr. Stephanie Seneff, documented how spike protein persistence, immune system disruption, and genomic instability may leave vaccinated populations trapped in a prolonged cycle of disease.

Global mortality data supports these warnings.

Countries with the highest mRNA injection uptake, such as Germany, the U.K., and much of Western Europe, have reported sustained spikes in all-cause mortality long after Covid itself declined in lethality.

Excess death rates have remained abnormally elevated, with many deaths occurring in "fully vaccinated" or "boosted" individuals.

An analysis of 145 countries even found that vaccination programs were associated with up to 291% more COVID cases and 205% more deaths than would have been expected without mass vaccination campaigns.

These findings align disturbingly with Russia's review, suggesting a clear, global pattern that officials are refusing to acknowledge.

If the Russian study and Hybrid Harms Hypothesis are correct, humanity is not only facing the aftermath of a manufactured virus but also the consequences of experimental gene therapy injected into billions.

The combined effect may be a slow-moving health crisis of cancer, autoimmune disease, and premature death, marking one of the greatest medical and political scandals in history.

And yet, instead of accountability, the response from governments and media has been silence, denial, and censorship.

The evidence is mounting and shows that mass mRNA “vaccination” has not only failed to stop Covid but may be fueling an ongoing surge in cancer, chronic illness, and unexplained deaths.

The warnings from Russian and Western scientists now converge on a single reality, revealing that humanity has been subjected to a reckless experiment [genocidal campaign] with catastrophic consequences.

Yet, the cover-up may be as dangerous as the injections themselves.
